The modern Norwegian monarchy, however, was formally established in the 19th century following Norway's independence from Sweden in 1905. King Haakon VII was crowned as the first king of an independent Norway, marking the beginning of the current royal lineage. Since then, the Norwegian royal family has been characterized by its relatively modern and constitutional role. Unlike monarchies where the king or queen holds significant political power, Norway's monarchy operates under a constitutional framework that emphasizes ceremonial duties, national unity, and diplomatic representation.

The Structure of the Royal Family

The royal family in Norway is headed by the reigning monarch, currently King Harald V. His lineage and succession are governed by the Norwegian Constitution and the Royal Succession Act. The family includes the king, queen, their children, and other close relatives who participate in official duties and public engagements.
